Roof
Deck

This is a technical architectural drawing of a roof deck. The main area is a large rectangle filled with a grid of squares, representing a 10x10 grid. The text 'Roof Deck' is centered within this grid. To the right of the main grid, there is a rectangular extension containing a staircase. The staircase is represented by a series of parallel lines, with the label 'Dn' indicating a downward direction. A curved line at the entrance of the staircase suggests a door or a change in level. The entire drawing is enclosed in a double-line border.

The text 'Roof Deck' is centered within this grid. To the right of the main grid, there is a rectangular extension containing a staircase. The staircase is depicted with vertical lines for treads and horizontal lines for risers. The label 'Dn' is placed at the top of the staircase, indicating a downward direction. A curved line at the entrance of the staircase suggests an opening or door. The entire drawing is enclosed in a double-line border. A small, solid black rectangle is located at the bottom left corner of the main grid area.
